

2006-04-11

Our NCB advises that Australia does not currently participate for EMC , so we had assumed the questionnaire did not relate to us.

In general, the Australian NC, and Standards Australia's approach to requests for regulatory information is that this should be obtained from the regulatory body concerned. Our insurers, and legal advice is that we are best not to provide advice or information on matters outside our corporate scope, but should refer enquirers to the regulatory bodies themselves, who can give complete, and authoritative information on current requirements.

In Australia EMC regulation is the role of the Australian Communications and Media Authority
<http://www.acma.gov.au/>

Warren Miller
Group Manager, Electrotechnology
Secretary, Australian National Committee of IEC
Standards Australia