NCB GOST Re has already informed IECEE Secretariat on the question of regulatory requirements in Russian Federation which is indicated in OD-CB 2007 (http://www.iecee.org./cbscheme/Regulatory_Requirements/russia-rr.PDF).

At the same time we have already provided national differences of Russian Federation concerning some EMC standards.

However we have not yet provided information concerning adherence to the EMC standards and national differences according to the last questionnaire on Questionnaire about adherence to new published IEC Standards/Amendments IECEE-CMC/605/Q.

This information (including information on national differences) is under the process of preparation and we confirm that it will be provided to the IECEE Secretariat.

Also let me note that according to the Rules of Russian Federation there is no single mandatory certificate according to EMC requirements (standards).

In appropriate cases EMC requirements are included into the mandatory certificate issued in accordance with safety requirements.
